Pesek To Be Honored at ASA-SSSA-CSSA Training Center Dedication May 22

Emeritus Professor and former Agronomy Department Head John Pesek will be honored on May 22 in Madison, Wis., during a dedication ceremony for the new training center at the ASA-CSSA-SSSA headquarters.

Pesek will share the honor with former University of Nebraska professor Robert A. Olson. Former graduate students of Pesek and Olson wished to name the training center for the two professors because of the excellent educational experiences provided under their mentorship.

The Department of Agronomy will provide a live video feed of the dedication in 3022 Agronomy on May 22 at 4:30 PM. Pesek will participate in the dedication from Agronomy Hall and is scheduled to make a few comments during the ceremony. A small reception with refreshments will follow for any who wish to attend.

Summer is Ideal Time to Deal With Windows XP and Office 2003 Upgrades

On April 8, 2014, Microsoft will cease support for the Windows XP operating system and Office 2003. This means there will be no additional security fixes, updates, or bug fixes for either XP or Office 2003 after that date.

If you currently have a computer in your office or in your lab that uses the XP operating system, Office 2003, or both, contact the Baker Lab to discuss options for upgrading to a newer, supported version of Windows and Office.

The Baker Lab requests discussion about changes take place as soon as possible to provide ample time to implement and deploy appropriate solutions for you situation. Email bakerlab@iastate.edu for additional information.

Notes

Summer Hours On Campus

Note that many offices on campus adjust hours during the summer. If you plan to interact with the Grad College or another administrative unit, the office may be closed late afternoon.

The Department of Agronomy main office will not be changing hours during the summer.
